

Why do so many tourists visit, the Spanish city Barcelona?

Previous geography learning

During Year 3, we explored why people would choose to live in Devon.

This learning experience

A European Region

We will learn where Spain is located in the world using geographical features. We will explore physical and human characteristics of Spain. We will focus on the city of Barcelona and how this is similar and different to cities in the U.K.

Outcome

Willow Class will create their own persuasive travel brochure to encourage tourism in the Spanish city of Barcelona.

Key vocabulary

- Europe
- Topography
- Country

Knowledge and Skills

Geography

- I know the name and location of major countries in Europe.
- I know the geographical similarities and differences between countries and the reasons for them, including human and physical geography.
- I know the relationship between the physical geography and human activity of a region.
- I know how to record, review and interpret data about different places.
- I can use a world map to identify the different continents.
- I can use a European map to identify where countries are.
- I can ask questions about how physical features are formed or changed.
- I can use atlases to locate countries and features of these countries.

Writing

- Delineate sentences mostly accurately throughout, using capital letters, full stops, question marks and exclamation marks.
- Use a wider range of subordination to create complex sentences expressing time, place and cause (when, before, after, while, so, although and because).
- Use text models to support the planning of writing (structure, vocabulary, sentence construction)
- Demonstrate understanding of the main features of different forms of writing

Character

Our gateway is Leadership.
The character value that we are focusing on is determination. We are going to be focusing on understanding that determination means wanting to continually improve.

Metacognition

For this Learning Journey, we are going to be focussing on explaining why people may have a difference in opinion. We will be choosing between a part-whole map and a double bubble.
